

A phone is a necessity. It's there for emergency's, and my personal use. I just can't turn it off like I do the TV. I need to have some sort of control over this device since I am paying for it's use.

If telemarketers wish to advertise, "charge them a fee". An amount equal to what the phone companies charge us for a call would be good. Deduct that from our phone bills, or pay me personally.

What I really want is the Federal Government to stay out of the State of Wisconsin's business.

Treat it the way Washington treats gay marriage. "Leave it to the States".
